

EDWARD C. GRENDYS, JR., M.D., FACOG, FACS

FLORIDA GYNECOLOGIC ONCOLOGY

COMMITMENT TO WOMEN'S CANCER

Dr. Edward Grendys shares a belief that all women with suspected or diagnosed gynecologic cancer should be offered access to modern treatment options that have been proven to offer a greater likelihood of an improved outcome.

With a strong academic background, including a clinical faculty appointment at Northwestern University's Feinberg School of Medicine in Chicago, Ill., Dr. Grendys continues to be involved with leading edge research in gynecologic oncology. His experience is diagnosing illness and disease and his complete surgical care has been gained from years of experience at major academic institutions. Dr. Grendys is an avid patient advocate. Dr. Grendys also has extensive experience in radical, as well as reconstructive, pelvic and abdominal surgery. He treats patients with dignity and compassion, and emphasizes quality of life care and patient satisfaction.
